CHANGING TRENDS IN AGRICULTURE

Family sized farms still form the nucleus of American agriculture, according to the publication, Agricultural Situation, published by the United States Department of Agriculture. In a review of the situation as revealed in the 1945 census, the publication finds that they made up "more than half of our farms, produced 70 percent of the total value of products and made homes for 58 percent of the farm population."

Large scale farms operated mostly by hired labor made up less than 2 percent of all farms and had less than 4 percent of farm families on them, according to the study. While constituting only 2 percent of the farms, however, they accounted for nearly 11 percent of the gross farm production.

This contrasts with another 26 percent of the farm population living on small units and accounting for only 3 percent of the total production.

There has been a double trend in the size of farms. The so-called family sized farm has been increasing steadily over the last few decades. At the same time there has been an increase in the number of smaller acreages, mostly around the larger cities. This latter group is made up almost entirely of part-time farmers—people who live in the country primarily as a way of life rather than as a way to make a living.

Such an existence has tremendous pull with many families, especially those who came originally from the land but who migrated to the towns and cities for economic reasons. On the whole the blissful existence on the small suburban acreage has been hoped for but largely unrealized except for those families that are economically fortunate.

The 1950 farm census figures will shed more light on this cross trend in American agriculture. Up to now the enlargement of economic farm units has caused more worry among sociologists than the counter movement by suburbanites. The latter have interfered little with the gross income of the more productive farm units, but the enlarging units are changing the whole economic and social picture of agriculture.

Size of the modern farming unit and the cost of equipment make it difficult for the young man to achieve farm ownership in his own right.

CASS COUNTY FARM BUREAU BOARD

Automatic Phone Service Subject Of Conference

A Chamber of Commerce bulletin mailed to its membership this week revealed that early this month the board of directors met with several officials of the Illinois Telephone Company to discuss the improvement of telephone service in this community.

In a four hour meeting, the C. of C. publication said, telephone officials and Chamber of Commerce directors discussed all phases of the situation and agreed to make further study of the problem.

"Currently, the Illinois Telephone Company is studying both local and long distance service to determine delay, disconnects and other points of complaint in order to better service the local phone customers," the bulletin stated.

"Automatic telephones are definitely in prospect for this community but at the present time it appears that it will be several years before this will be possible."

Essay On 'Flopping' Brings Irate Replies From Ladies

By Hal Boyle

New York—(P)—Touch people on a sore point, and they holler.

And sometimes I feel sorry for Dr. Gallup, Sir Galahad, Diogenes, and other well known seekers of the truth.

These two observations result from a little adventure I made last week into the field of domestic science.

I wrote a little essay on why housewives are always tired. My theme was that they were themselves out lying down and getting up so many times during the day, trying to sandwich in brief periods of rest between their household tasks.

Well, as many a fellow who met Joe Louis has remarked afterward, "What happened?"

"Some Hot Replies"

A number of gentle ladies across the land jeered at my Christmas spirit of good will—but pronto. They sat down and wrote me indignant letters beginning:

"Dear Stinker—"

"Upon my life! Where do gracious women learn to unleash such vocabularies of invective? Some of the letters were so hot I had to read them held at arms-length with a pair of fire tongs."

The only suggestion I had made was that housewives should cease "flopping" on bed, couch or armchair between each chore. The idea was that they should stay on their feet longer and get more work done, and take fewer but longer rest periods in between.

Since most housewives are overweight, this would conserve much of the energy they now waste getting up and down so often. And they would feel more like accepting their husband's eager plea to go out for an evening of dancing.

Ladies Deny They 'Flopp'

The chorus of most of the letters rebuking me was:

"It isn't true. We don't flop between tasks. We're on our feet all day long."

But are they? Two ladies who may be traitors to their sex agreed I was right.

"Keeping house for two children plus a husband requires a lot of 'flopping,'" wrote a Valdosta, Ga., housewife.

And an equally honest Brooklyn wife said:

"You are so right. My husband howled—the best."

The most interesting letter of dissent came, not from a wife, but from a husband—an old friend, "Fuzzy" Macaskill, a man who has invested $2 a day for years with the dual purpose of protecting his old age and keeping the horseracing industry on a firm footing.

Young People To Present Pageant At Northminster

The young people will again present the Christmas story in a pageant to be presented at Northminster Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:30 as one of their projects for the year.

"The Best Gift" will be presented in a setting of candles and Christmas music with a background of blue and white depicting seven different scenes making this story of long ago very real in our day.

Readers presenting the scriptural story will be Arden DeFrates, Joyce Fernandes, Donna Smith, Catherine Fernandes, John Smith and Donald Souza.

The following will share in the presenting of the different scenes: Norma Sperry, Audrey Fortado, Lena Mae Spreen, Lilly Meece, Margaret Gistly, Velma Vieira, Barbara Meneses, Dale DeFrates, Oscar Matthews, Robert Fortado, Glenn Fernandes, Wayne Peterson, George Souza, Ivan Dunn, Janet Fernandes, Charlene Smith, Patsy Sperry, Ruth Albright, Mary Lois Albright, Kenneth DeFrates, Mary Ann Ward and Gwendolyn Souza.

Mrs. George Ferreira will be at the organ, with Mrs. Melvin Smith in charge of the choral numbers.

Symphony Rehearses 6-Year-Old

The youngest child ever to rehearse with the Philadelphia Orchestra, Susan Schwartz, 6, of Philadelphia, calmly goes through her part at the piano. Susan's father, who is now a member of the orchestra's violin section, made his debut with the group at the age of nine.

Day and night, a train arrives in New York on the average of every 30 seconds.

Czechs Argue
Over Football Pool

Prague—(AP)—It looked like Staska, the football pool scheme, might pull through in its first trial in Czechoslovakia.

The pool, based on the performances of 14 teams in the Czechoslovak football league, had dragged in 70 million crowns ($1,400,000) with about three-quarters of the season gone, but it was attacked on both economic and moral grounds.

Factory managers and production experts complained it interfered with factory output. Workers spent the first part of the week comparing notes on the Sunday games results. They spent the last half of the week making out their predictions for the coming Sunday.

To the country, trying to meet quotas in the closing months of the two-year-economic plan, and getting ready for a new five-year-plan, that looked bad. One step was to ban branch offices of Staska from factories and it looked like curtains for Staska for a while.

There were attacks on the pool, because it fostered gambling, and because a few easy-rich threatened to be made each week. This was against the philosophy of working class society. After one woman won two first prizes of about $40,000 each in the first pool results, the top prizes were reduced successively to $20,000, then to a limit of $10,000, then $4,000, finally $2,000. Winnings in the lower brackets were spread.

There had been plans to continue the pools next winter, on ice hockey, basketball and wrestling results. Some government officials were known to look on the pool scheme as a revenue getter that helped drain inflation money into the treasury, and they sought ways of perpetuating it, at least on a modest basis that would not take too much money from the individual better, or pay too much back.

The Czechoslovak government also opposed a quarterly lottery but it got nowhere near the play of the football pool scheme.

NO NOISE IS GOOD NEWS

AFTER 20,000 miles or more of hard driving, even the best clutch needs a going over to keep it smooth. Worn facings or facings that are loose on the face plate can make a clutch chatter like a school girl.

If miles and miles of service have made your Buick's clutch too "talkative," we'll bring it back to new-car dependability and quietness with Buick methods and Buick factory-engineered parts.

Whatever work we do on your car, you can count on us for real Buick service and factory-engineered Buick parts. That's the combination that keeps your Buick always a Buick.

Christmas Trees Part Of Cold War In Germany

added city. The people are crazy about Christmas trees. The Russians can bring them in from their surrounding occupation zone. The only way the western powers can bring them in over the Soviet blockade to western Berlin is via the airlift. But the airlift is crowded to capacity with more important things. Thus for many western families this may be a cold war with the west in this block-mistake instead of a Christmas tree.

Christmas. A fir branch hauled in from a suburban forest may decorate the mantle and substitute for a tree. Or a little artificial tree may be erected in the home. In previous years of the occupation the four powers cooperated to bring in Christmas trees to this beleaguered city in quantity to provide one for every family with children. They came from the Russian occupation zone and the British zone in Western

Germany. They were brought in by railroad and trucks from the west. Now those avenues are closed. However, the routes from the Russian zone are open. Over them will come, according to announcements in the Soviet-controlled press, some 350,000 trees. These are scheduled for distribution to the million inhabitants of the Russian sector of the city. But wise western Berliners figure there will be an overflow that will come into western Berlin—especially if western currency is offered for them in the black market. Although the Russians have declared western markets illegal, even the Germans of the Soviet sector want to get their hands on the coveted money at premium rates. Western authorities also expect that the Russians will offer Christmas trees to western Berlin non-communists as bait to come into the Soviet sector of the city to register for rations. Previous attempts to win over the people of the U.S., British and French sectors of the city were made with food and fuel rations, but with only scant success. It is expected, however, there won't be nearly enough trees to go around. So the U.S. Army's German Youth Administration is planning community Christmas parties for 70,000 German children in the American sector of the city. About $17,000 and large contributions of sweets and other articles are being collected for this purpose from the American population. In addition, the airlift is expected to bring in enough tree for church and community celebrations in the blockaded two-thirds of the city.

Students Await Start Of Holiday Vacations

Most of the students in schools at 9 a. m. A wide variety of Christmas programs and social activities have highlighted the Yuletide season at MacMurray.

EXAMS AT I. C.

The past week at Illinois college has been devoted to giving examinations, which complete the work for the first term. The vacation period begins Friday, although many of the students, those who have completed their examinations, were free the early part of the week. The students will return on Jan. 3, at which time the winter term will get underway.

The college held a formal holiday dance on Dec. 10. Most of the societies and dormitories have had informal parties and several programs have been given.

Thursday was the last day of classes at the schools for the blind and the deaf. The pupils have been treated to parties by their teachers, and by several civic organizations. Their vacation will extend to Jan. 3, when the pupils are to return to school. Classes will begin again on Jan. 4.

County Schools Vary

Vacations in the county schools range from ten days to two weeks, a matter decided upon by the board of each unit district. Dismissals will begin on Dec. 17.

The local grade schools, along with Routt High school and Jacksonville High school, will be dismissed Tuesday, Dec. 21. Classes will resume on Jan. 3.

A Christmas dance will be held by the students of Routt High school Tuesday night in the school auditorium. Music for dancing will be furnished by Jimmy Conlee and his orchestra. Decorations will be of a Yuletide motif, featuring a large Christmas tree.

J. H. S. Also Plans Dance

The Student Council of J. H. S. is also sponsoring a dance, to take place Tuesday night in the David Prince gymnasium, which will be decorated for the occasion in keeping with the Christmas theme. Music will be by Von Young and his orchestra.

A special performance of the J. H. S. Christmas Vespers will be given for the students in an assembly period Friday afternoon. The vespers, which are under the direction of Miss Lena Mae Hopper, will be presented for the public Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Blueboy Invitational Tournament Opens Monday Night

Rockets, Crimson Entertain Prep Cage Fives Here Tonight

The Jacksonville high and Routt basketballers play hosts to Lanphier and Notre Dame of Quincy in hoop tilts tonight.

Bob Kraushaar's Crimson entertain a strong Lanphier five in a central conference conflict, with the preliminary bout staged for 6:45.

Stan Spotts is on the "maybe" list for the Jacks. He suffered a sprained ankle in Thursday night's practice session, and the Crimson mentor is uncertain about the high-scoring guard's condition. Spotts has been sitting well with his long shots all season, notching 23 points in the Winchester fray Tuesday night, and his presence or absence in the contest could well be the deciding factor in a Jacksonville victory.

Issues Tentative Line-Up

Kraushaar issued a tentative line-up on this eve of the game showing Busey and Trotter at the forwards, with Chapman in the center position and Spotts and Williams at guards. If Spotts cannot play, Gerald Busey will go back to guard, and Gene Todd will be inserted into the starting five at a forward post.

Rollo Sorrells, coach of the Lanphier quint, is nursing a fine cage squad this year. The Springfield outfit lost to Decatur in its season's opener, but since then has bounced back to whip Virginia High and Lincoln by good margins. The team is expected to be the fourth win in six starts. The Jacks have lost the last two tilts, one to Pittsfield, and the other to a fine Winchester aggregation.

Notre Dame To Rout

Pete Affre will bring his Notre Dame five to Jacksonville in quest of win number two this season. His quint has been beaten by Camp Point, St. Teresa and Quincy high, and has clipped only Payson in previous cage contests.

Paul Stroud's Rockets will be standing behind a record of three wins and one loss, as they prepare to defend the home front against the invading Quincy crew. Stroud will stick with Kennedy and Tighe at the forwards, Saner at the pivot, with Joe Murphy and A. J. Speen bringing the ball down the floor. Sonny Loneragan is slated to see plenty of action in the headliner conflict, after his showing against Perry Tuesday night. Big Paul Saner, too, played well against the Pioneers and is expected to come in for his share of the rebounds and points against the invading Notre Dame quintet.

Comiskey Learns The Fine Points From The Champ

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis shuffled around the ring for 12 minutes tonight with Pat Comiskey and for the second time showed the New Jersey heavyweight there are plenty of tricks to the boxing game.

Comiskey, who once was touted as the logical successor to Louis, was a willing worker but there wasn't much he could do against the champion.

Louis, who weighed 220 pounds to Comiskey's 214, picked up a check of roughly $5,200 as his part of the exhibition. A crowd of 5,121 was in the armory. The gross was $14,683.

The Associated Press score card gave Louis five rounds and Comiskey one.

Comiskey, who has been up and down in the big time for almost a decade, came out fighting in the sixth round and before Louis knew it the champion was on the receiving end of two looping roundhouse rights.

He covered up, however, and got Comiskey in a clinch, then held a punch when he had his opponent on the ropes.

The 28-year-old Comiskey threw punches from the opening bell and although he hit Louis plenty there was no power behind the punches.

Louis hit the Paterson Irishman anytime he wished, but during most of the action in the two-minute rounds, he made an obvious effort to hold back his blows.

In a preliminary, Steve Klepels, 148, Clifton, N. J., defeated Norman Kelly, 146, Detroit.

East-West Teams Due On West Coast

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The 24-man squads composing the East and West teams for the New Year's East-West Shrine game are due in San Francisco over the coming week end, and next week begin workouts.

The eastern collegiate stars rendezvous at Northwestern University, Evanston, this week, and continue to the coast in week strength. They are due Sunday.

Both squads are scheduled to start their first workouts Monday and Tuesday.

The East team includes Ed McNeil, Michigan, end; Phil O'Reilly, Purdue, and Ralph Kohl, Michigan, tackles; William Fischer, Notre Dame, and Dave Templeton, Ohio State, guards; Richard Woodard, Iowa, and Warren Beson, Minnesota, centers, and John Panelli, Notre Dame, Gene Derricotte, Michigan, and Everett Faunce, Minnesota, backs.

The action was taken on recommendations by the advisory board at Clinton, Ill., following housing survey made by the expediter's office.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Hog prices were 50 cents a hundred pounds higher to 25 cents lower today, cattle were steady to 50 cents higher, and sheep ruled steady to weak.

Good to choice barrows and gilts sold from $19.75 to the choice top of $23 while sows were mostly $16.25 to $18.25.

Medium to choice steers brought $22 to $30 and medium to good heifers $21 to $27. Beef cows ranged downward from $19.50, sausage bulls from $23, and good weaners from $31, although choice weaners were quoted as high as $32. Feeder steers and yearlings ranged downward from $25.

Lambs topped at $15.75, yearlings at $22.75, and ewes at $20.75. Total receipts included 15,000 hogs, 3,200 cattle, 400 calves, and 2,200 sheep.

New York Stock Market

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Higher prices for gold and other selected issues contrasted with downward tendencies elsewhere in the stock and curb markets today.

Prices for key issues in the Exchange showed a thorough mixture of small gains and losses most of the day but toward the close selling became a little more insistent. Changes either way were mostly in fractions.

A fair amount of business was done, with turnover at the rate of around 1,000,000 shares for the full session.

Homestake Mining, largest gold producer in the United States, ran up around 2 points at one time.

A check of the financial district disclosed that brokers were frankly puzzled by the rise in gold shares.

Marked down most of the day were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Deere, United Aircraft, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, Chesapeake & Ohio and Sinclair Oil.

PCC-Big 9 Bowl Pact To Continue Through 1959

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Rose Bowl pact between the Big Nine and the Pacific Coast Conference apparently is expected to continue through 1959—at least 10 years to the grid classic will be sold on that basis.

The Tournament of Roses Association said yesterday that 9,658 seats—to be added after the Jan. 1, 1949 game—will be sold on ten-year leases. The ten-year cost per seat—$55.

Of the total seats, 3,220 will be sold to the general public. The remaining 6,438 will be split between the Big Ten and the PCC.

Asked if that meant renewal by 1951 of the current agreement between the two loops, Edward Allen, assistant manager of the association, said "I suppose so."

During the fourth period Grafton quintet controlled the game, sinking 20 points while their rivals were scoring nine.

Bradley Comes From Behind To Whip Manhattan

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Bradley University came through its first real test of the season with flying colors tonight, coming from behind to whip Manhattan College, 81-72, in the opener of an intercollegiate double header at Madison Square Garden. A crowd of about 17,000 saw the unbeaten Braves register their fourth triumph.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Jaspers. Trailing most of the game, they finally pulled ahead 82-60 midway in the second half after treating the near-casualty crowd to one of the most breath-taking assaults ever seen at the Garden.

Behind 38-31 at intermission, Manhattan poured in an amazing total of 31 points in 10 minutes, connecting almost everytime they got their hands on the ball.

The Braves gamely tried to match Manhattan's pace, but it was too much of a task. At that, they counted 22 points themselves, but found themselves trailing 68-60 with seven minutes remaining.

Bradley continued to drive and pulled up to within four points 71-67 with four minutes left. Paul Uhrh, Bradley's leading scorer this season, and Bill Mann, a scrappy forward, led the Braves' comeback.

College Will Stage Holiday Event At ISD; Play Eureka Saturday

Al Miller, athletic director at Illinois college, announced yesterday the staging of a Blueboy Invitational tournament, which will be held Monday and Tuesday, the 20 and 21 of Dec. at the I.S.D. gymnasium.

Three teams have accepted invitations to play in the event, and they, together with the host Illinois college five, promise Jacksonville fans plenty of hoop action the first of next week. Blueboy Mentor Miller states that this will be the best opportunity local citizens will have to see some top notch cage entries in action. Northern Minnesota State Teachers college probably looms as the most formidable five in the event. Data their entry is incomplete but a look at their schedule for this season shows that this quint is slated for two battles with the University of Minnesota.

Quincy, Shurtliff Entered

The other two hoop entries, Quincy college and Shurtliff college of Alton, are not slouches on the hardwood. The Blueboys have already met Quincy this season, and were handed their first loss of the year by the Western Illinois gang. From Southern Illinois comes the Shurtliff college gang with a 3-2 record under their belts, and riding high for an upset in this meet.

The local college five will round out the tournament contestants. Going into the contest with Eureka Saturday night, they stand on an even record showing 2 wins and 2 setbacks. Barney Vilk and Art Wilson have finally completely recovered from football injuries and are working back into shape for this tournament tilt.

Autos And Foxes Blamed For Thin '48 Rabbit Crop

Jerseyville—The scarcity of rabbits in Jersey county this season is blamed by sportsmen on the great number of foxes in the county, but Charles Schlansker of the Pigeon vicinity who was in Jerseyville Wednesday morning states there is yet another "animal" to be blamed for the scarcity of brer rabbit.

This animal, Schlansker reports has four wheels and operates by gasoline power. "Every morning when I travel from Pigeon to where I am operating my saw mill," said Schlansker, "I find the bodies of five or six rabbits that have been killed by automobiles during the previous night. Cars have been averaging about one rabbit per mile per night over the five miles of road I travel to work each morning."

Schlansker also commented on the number of foxes. "I can remember 40 years ago when I was a young man, I had some extra good fox hounds. You could travel almost the entire length of a western Jersey county and not find a fox to chase. The dogs I owned then were good ones and you often had to travel miles before you could get a chase. Today they are about as numerous as rabbits used to be."

Forty-four petitioners also received the obligation. Dinner was served at the Baptist church at 5:30 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m., officers of Malta Shrine, No. 51, of Jacksonville performed the ceremony of initiation for thirty-three petitioners.

A smoothie? This SUPER certainly is. On every score from its boldly fashioned grille to smoothly streamlined taillights and graceful, contoured bumpers.

XLII
THEY floundered out into the backyard of their house, and out through the gate that led into it, from the lane that ran behind the backs of all these houses down that to its mouth, and from there onto the sidewalk street. Then along that, and around the turn, and into the street that ran behind the one their house had faced upon.

"The station," she kept saying. "The station—Oh try, Lou. It's just a few short streets ahead. We'll be safe, if we can only reach it."

On and on and on, two lurching figures, breaths sobbing in their throats.

It was in sight already, across the open square ahead, the station square, the hub of the town—or so she told him, he could no longer see that far before him—when suddenly the combination of their overtaken strengths gave out, her arms, her will, could do no more, and he fell flat there in the dust beside her.

She tried desperately to bring him up again, but she'd weakened so that his inertness could only bring her down half recumbent beside him, instead.

"Don't waste time," he sighed. "I can't—Not a step further."

She struggled upright again, drove fingers distractedly through her hair, looked this way, that.

Then bending to his face, to give him courage with a kiss, ran on and left him there where he was. She disappeared into a building fronting on the square, with a lighted gas bowl over its doorway and the legend: "Furnished Rooms for Travelers."

In a moment she returned to view again, beckoning to someone within to hasten out after her. "Here," she cried. "Over this way. Here he is. Help me get him to one of your rooms."

A shirt-sleeved man lifted him bodily in his arms.

THE black sky over the station square, pocked with stars, eddied this way and that just over Durand's upturned eyes. Then it changed to gaslight pallor on a plaster ceiling. Then this slanted off upward, gradually dimming, and he was being borne up stairs.

"I'm sorry it's so high up," the man said, "but that's all I have."

"No matter," she answered. "Anything. Anything."

They passed through a doorway, the ceiling dark at first, then gradually brightening to tarnished silver following the soft, spongy fluff of an ignited gas flow.

"Shall I get you a doctor, madam?" the man asked, as he gently laid Durand on the bed.

"No, not yet. Leave us alone together. I'll let you know later. Here, take this for now." She thrust some money at him through the door. "I'll sign the registry book later."

She locked it, came running back to Durand. She dropped down beside the bed in an imploring attitude.

"Louis, Louis, did I once want money, did I once want fine clothes and jewels? I'd give them all at this minute to have you stand strong and upright on your legs before me. I'd give my very looks themselves—" she clawed at her own face, dragging its supple cheeks forward as if seeking to transfer it toward him, "—and what more have I to give?"

The tears were streaming in reckless profusion from her eyes, she who had never wept in all her life.

His fingers reached tremulously to trace their course. "Don't weep any more," he whispered. "Don't speak. Just put your lips to mine. Tell me goodbye with that."

Kiss of farewell. Their very souls seemed to flow together. To try to blend forever into one. Then, despairing, failed and were separated, and one slipped down into darkness and one remained in the light.

She drew her lips from his, for sheer necessity of breathing. There was a smile of ineffable contentment left on his, there where her lips had been.

"And that was my reward," he sighed.

His eyes closed, and there was death.

A SHUDDER ran through her, as though the throes of dying were in her herself. She pleaded with him, called to him. She even tried to make a bargain with death itself, win a delay.

"No, wait! Oh, just one minute more! One minute give me, and then I'll let him go! Oh, God! Oh, Someone! Anyone at all! Just one more minute! I have something I want to tell him!"

She flung herself downward over him, and her hair, coming unbound, flowed over him, covering his face. The golden-hair that he had loved so, made a shroud for him.

Her lips sought his ear, and she tried to whisper into it, for him alone to hear. "I love you. I love you. Can't you hear me? Where are you? That is what you always wanted. Don't you want it now?"

In the background of her grief, distant, dim, unheeded, echoes seemed to rise around her. A muffled pounding on the door, clamoring voices backing it, conjured there now, at just this place, this moment, who knows how?

"Open, in there! This is a police order! Open this door, do you hear?"

Their meaning could not impress, their threat could not frighten. For she was somebody else's prisoner now. She had escaped them.

Moaning anguish into a headless ear: "Oh, Louis, Louis! I have loved you too late. Too late I have loved you."

The knocking and the clamor and the grief faded out, and there was nothing left.

"And this is my punishment."

Teacher's Pet?

Left at home when Alonzo Burnham went to school in Schenectady, N. Y., this pup wasn't happy at all. If he was kept inside the house he chewed the window shades; if he was tied outside he barked continuously. Finally let out, he raced to school, to be with Alonzo. Teacher says he's a model, and silent, pupil.

Leader Training School To Be Held At Carrollton

Carrollton—Miss Marian Kaeser of the extension staff of the University of Illinois will hold a major leader training school Thursday in Farm Bureau hall. The Mr. Gilead unit met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Pegram; the Eldred unit met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. San Camerer and the Rubicon unit met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. M. L. Melvin. The Wrights unit will meet Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Ebert Doyel.

W. G. Vogt, commander of the local post of the American Legion and 20th district chairman of Thanks to the Yanks, went to Jacksonville Sunday to attend a district meeting of the American Legion. The speaker was William G. Burns of Chicago, Illinois department commander, who spoke on World War I and World War II pension plans. Vogt was accompanied by Freeman Tanner and Oscar Davidson.

Most active U.S. centers for lightning are Vicksburg, Miss., Tampa, Fla., and Santa Fe, N. M., which average from 60 to 90 thunderstorm days a year.

Hudson To Lead Great Books Group

Dr. H. Gary Hudson will be the guest leader at the Great Books discussion group meeting Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the public library. The discussion will be on Thucydides, the "historian's historian."

MILNOT MONEY SAVERS!

Tasty Macaroni and Cheese

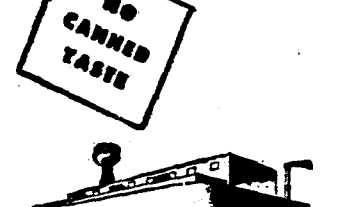

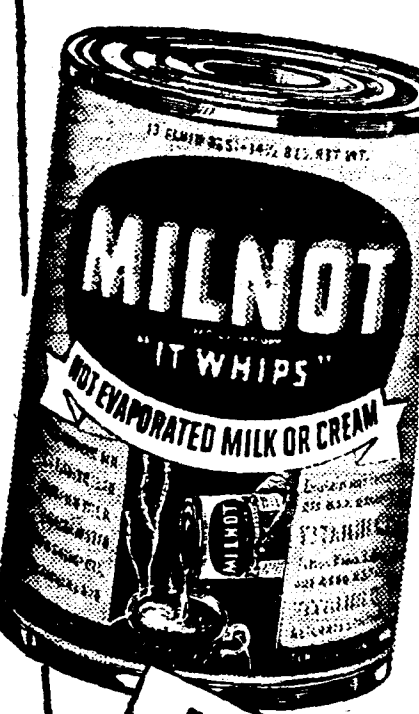

1 pkg. macaroni (16 oz.)
2 tbsp. butter
2 cups milk
1 cup MILNOT (1 cup milk and 1 cup MILNOT)

Cap boiling water)
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 1/2 cups grated American cheese, (10-15)

Break macaroni into 1-inch pieces. Cook in large quantity of salted water until tender (use 2 qts. of water and 2 tsp. salt for 1 cup macaroni). Drain, rinse with cold water; drain again.
